

PERSONAL INJURY

The Devine Millimet team also represents individuals who suffer workplace injuries, including both physical injuries and damages caused by improper employment practices, such as wrongful discrimination and sexual harassment. Our attorneys are thoughtful, aggressive and compassionate, carefully balancing the interests of a significant recovery with the physical and emotional distress that a protracted trial process may cause.

Our attorneys have vast experience in all types of civil litigation matters, and have extensive trial and courtroom experience. We also have experience and expertise in all aspects of the settlement process, including negotiation, mediation and other forms of alternative dispute resolution which encourage parties to settle for a fair amount of compensation without the need for a protracted and emotionally grueling trial process. In the personal injury arena, our attorneys strive to reach the best possible outcome for our clients and their families.
